

Re: URGENT - New Feature Alert!!

From: productowner@purplesquirrel.com

To: sales@purplesquirrel.com

Date: 13/02/2023

Attention: Stephen

Hello,

Thanks for your mail and sure you are doing great.

We all understand the importance of our collective organizational goal, which is to satisfy our customer's need so as to drive the organization revenue. Including the employee timesheets feature in the in-flight sprint would have been great and would have enhanced the sales team's effort in retaining these 3 major clients.

However, adding the employee timesheet feature to the ongoing sprint would have negative impacts on the entire project as we are currently running more than our capacity. Hope you understand this.

The good news is, we are happy to work on the timesheet feature in our product backlog to meet the definition of ready and include this feature in our next sprint to have this minimum viable product. Sure, this would be a great path in retaining these customers.

Kindly revert if you need further clarification on this.

Warm regards,

Olabanjo Omotosho

Product Owner